If considering attending or planning to attend our camp, please be aware of what we believe to be God’s teaching on sexual identity and how that belief influences our rooming, bathroom, and conduct policies. As set forth in our core beliefs, we believe that in God’s creation sex and gender are synonymous, and that they are determined by an individual’s biological sex at birth. We also believe that biblical marriage is defined as a marriage between one man and one woman. Because of our desire for all campers to have an amazing experience while at camp, and because most campers who attend our camps share beliefs similar to ours, we are unable (and not equipped) to simultaneously accommodate and care well for campers who: 1) desire to be called by pronouns different from their sex/gender; 2) proclaim their identity as a non-human species; 3) are transitioning to a different gender from the one given at birth; or 4) proclaim their identity to be LGBT. This does not mean that campers who fall into one or more of the above categories may not attend our camp. It simply means that all campers, regardless of beliefs or desires, are expected to follow our rooming, bathroom, and conduct policies; and if our beliefs, policies, and rules are objectionable to you, then you may be better off attending other Christian camps that are designed and equipped to accommodate such beliefs or desires. We encourage campers falling into one of the above categories to search for and find other Christian camps better able and equipped for campers holding such beliefs or desires.

We, the undersigned, agree to and will adhere to all the above guidelines.
